We look forward to being Mom and Dad and thank you from the bottom of our hearts for considering us as adoptive parents to your baby. We believe in giving selfless love and generosity around us because in the end "you reap what you sow". We believe that we can make this world a better place by nurturing our loved ones here and now. Love that goes around eventually comes around and those who love each other always stay in touch deep down in their heart...

What It Means to Be Parents and Our Strengths

Being parents to us means loving and nurturing a child so he/she can find happiness and choose a future of their own. We long to give back what we received as children: a caring and supportive family, the forgiveness and tenderness that only loving parents can give to their loved one, as well as the safety and the warmth of a home. We look forward to helping your child build self-confidence, see possibilities and experience the pride in great accomplishments. We will be a source of unconditional love and support to nurture your child in everyday life. We want him/her to grow into a happy child, an accomplished teenager and some day, a successful adult. Our strengths as parents would flow from the strengths that have bonded us as a couple over the years - we are optimistic and enthusiastic in everything we undertake, reasonable with sound common sense when making important decisions and living Christian values of sharing, giving, honesty and faith.

Education We Will Provide for This Child

We believe that the purpose of education is to help children achieve everything they can be. Education starts with unconditional love that gives children a sense of safety both at home and in their heart. Also we believe that sound values and principles give children a sense of purpose and direction. The values that have shaped our lives include faith, optimism, honesty, generosity, compassion and kindness towards others. As a matter of fact, we have been amazed to see our friends' adopted children thrive on similar values and unconditional love. When the life of child starts with a smile, life will smile back at him/her. We want to give your child the right chances right from the start: the best school in town, access to the children's club to enjoy sports, exotic vacations to discover the most beautiful places in the world and whatever he/she would like to explore when growing up. We want to help your child uncover his/her own talents to succeed in life. We will be there every step of the way from kindergarden to senior high and college. We will be there for school events, field projects and homework. We will be there to sooth doubts, build confidence and fulfill his/her dreams. With love, encouragements, and pride-building, there will be no boundary to what your child can learn and accomplish. We have seen children blossom like beautiful flowers in our own families and at our friends' house. We can't wait to give your child the same chances in life.

What Led Us to Choose Adoption to Build Our Family

Sunday Morning Brunch, Downtown

As our hopes for having a baby of our own were not fulfilled, we felt sorrow and regrets. But life can be full of surprises, so we let our natural optimism take over and started dreaming of Christmas trees, teddy bears and trips to Disneyland. Friends of ours adopted three lovely children who thrive through life with vibrant confidence and enthusiasm. They want to try everything everywhere they go whether on the playground, at school or on the baseball field. Our friends' house is full of joy and buzzing throughout the year: the children look incredibly happy, biting into life each morning as if picking ripe apples in the orchards. We were in awe and admiration and wondered what made these children so special. All it takes is a dinner at the family table to get the answer: these children feed and grow on unconditional parental love! They know they were adopted and thrive because they know they were loved twice from the very first day they came to this world: once by their birth mother who made the ultimate sacrifice for their well-being and then by their adoptive parents who have nurtured them like their own ever since they were born. Over the course of time, we realized that, what we had thought of for so long as a curse was in reality a wonderful opportunity God was showing us—we were meant to become parents in another, no less miraculous way - through adoption. Love finds its way to nurture children into life: as you are reading our letter today, you may wonder what is best for your child, so we send you our prayer that you find the right answer in your heart.

Our Extended Families

We love spending time with our relatives, especially in the summer by the family beach house or around the Christmas season. The house is full of laughs, joyful excitement, kissing and singing as gifts are being shared and unwrapped. Freshly-baked cookies make their way to the family room where children and grown-ups hang around cheerfully watching Disney and comedy classics. Outside the season holiday, we call one another every week to share the latest news. We just love to capture and celebrate happy moments with photos and films: email does the rest.

Phillip's parents live close to Veronica's mother, so they can pay visits to one another. Phillip's sister is married with three wonderful children, a nephew and two adorable nieces. Veronica is a single child who never having known the joys of having siblings has found in Phillip's sister a sister of her own. We look forward to sharing our family traditions with your child and our family is incredibly excited at the prospect of spoiling the baby during the next holiday season.

Our House & Neighborhood

WASHINGTON

Our House on the Hill: Nothing compares to the feeling of coming home after a long trip

We live close to beautiful parks and green spaces where children play and build fun memories they love to talk about during dinner.

Within a short drive are majestic snow-capped mountains and beautiful lakes with pristine blue waters lapping onto sandy shores. We both have a love for the outdoors, hiking among evergreen trees, watching deer grazing on the hill, or picnicking by the lake in the summer. Children are blessed to grow up in this gorgeous environment where fresh air gives them rosy cheeks all year long.

Dear Birthparent(s),

Thank you for taking the time to read our letter. We realize you are facing many choices and are now considering a heart-breaking decision - so we want to take this opportunity to tell you about us. While we cannot fully imagine the stress and difficulty of making such a decision, we would like to support you in this process and hopefully answer some of the questions you may have.

We are Phillip and Veronica and have been married for 5 years. We love each other dearly and are blessed to have been through life together - we are each other's best friend and want to have a family of our own to share our happiness with a child. We've realized adoption will be a blessing in our life.

We are both fortunate to have good health, financial security and great jobs - Veronica has a flexible schedule that would easily allow plenty of time to care for a little one. Phillip is looking forward to long evenings and weekends of happy family life. We want to love and nurture your child and offer him/her the same gifts we were fortunate to receive- a loving and supportive family, a wonderful childhood, great education opportunities, and a fulfilling life.

Veronica is a natural-born dancer. Whenever she enters a dance floor, she turns into a cheery butterfly twisting, twirling and spinning with a blissful smile on her face. From barbecues to Christmas parties and dancing events, every social occasion turns into a slice of paradise with music in the background. She will toss, turn, pivot, rattle and roll until the last pirouette and laugh her way out only to recount with delight "how fun it was!" Your baby may soon discover the gentle thrill of dancing with loved ones and school friends. We have seen it firsthand with our nieces and nephew asking with excitement before each party: "Mom, can I dance too?"

We are excited about upcoming birthday cakes, children parties, Christmas laughs, trips to Disneyworld and long vacations in Hawaii and beautiful Tahiti. We look forward to giving your child the childhood memories that made us happy: play and learn every day, swim in the ocean, pick seashells on the beach, build sandcastles in the summer, snowmen in winters, ski down the mountain, hunt Easter eggs, ride horses on the trail, eat lollipops by the fireplace and fall asleep with sweet bedtime stories. Our families are very supportive of our decision to adopt and are as excited as we are to have our prayers finally answered.

Most important of all, we want to give your child the freedom to choose his/her future and seize all the opportunities that he/she deserves to enjoy life to the fullest. We believe love, encouragement and trust are the foundation of a happy and successful life. We value confidence in oneself, compassion and generosity towards others, optimism toward the future and gratefulness to God.

We look forward to being Mom and Dad and thank you from the bottom of our hearts for considering us as adoptive parents to your baby. Please let us know if you would like to maintain contact and receive letters, pictures and videos so you can share and enjoy your child's journey all along. We would be happy to share those moments with you, so you can rest assured you made the right choice for your child. We believe in giving selfless love and generosity around us because in the end "you reap what you sow". We believe that we can make this world a better place by nurturing our loved ones here and now. Love that goes around eventually comes around and those who love each other always stay in touch deep down in their heart...

Thank you for reading our letter today,

Sincerely,

Phillip and Veronica
